One of Elba's most progressive businesses started its seventh year of operation in 1953 with the biggest volume of trade they have enjoyed to date. Catering exclusively to the furniture trade, Lindsey-Thomason Furniture Company has made a name for itself in the local commercial picture.

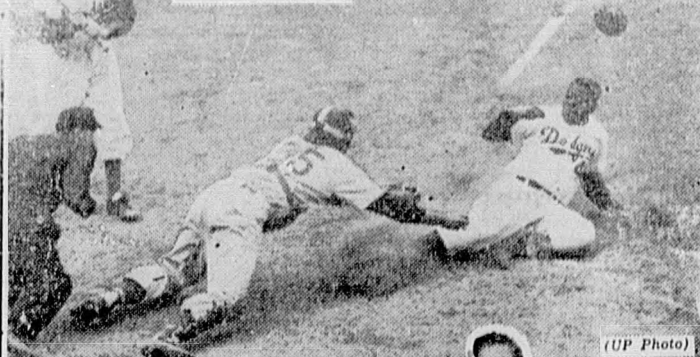

By specializing in the home furniture service, Charles Lindsey and R. D. "Tommy" Thomason have brought many nationally advertised brands of furniture into West Coffee that were not available here formerly. On the square, it would probably be difficult to find two more forward-looking businessmen than the furniture store partners. Because they think in terms of expanding business and larger volume, their trade has grown year by year and month by month. Until in May of this year, the store enjoyed the largest volume of business for any 30-day period since it has been open.

GROWTH CONTINUES
The general Thomason attributes the store's continued growth to a policy of offering home furniture customers the best product available in different lines at the same time the buyers get the lowest possible cash price. Long terms with easy payments can also be arranged at the lowest possible prices, the store partners say.

In regard to prices and overhead, Tommy is quick to point out the advantages of a home-town store. Without the high rentals and big staff needed in large cities, Lindsey-Thomason

Your Home-Canned Pears Will Win Prizes and Prizes

Store Pears in Cool Place Until Right for Canning

(AP Photo) Bartlett is the best pear for home canning, but a number of other varieties are good. When home-canned pears are hard and gritty, it is because the variety used wasn't meant for canning.

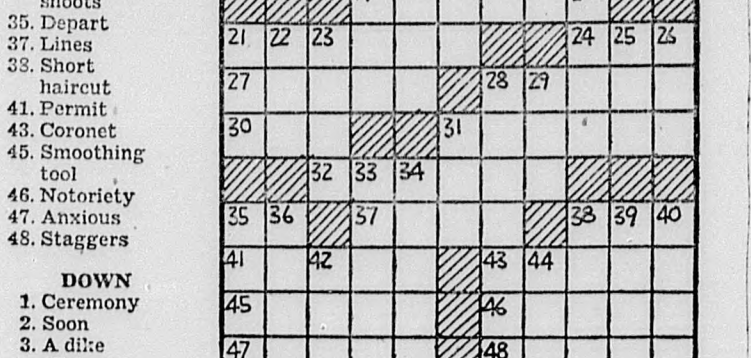

(AP Photo) When canned pears have unity centers, it is because somebody dug with a knife instead of scooping with a spoon. The work goes fast with a regular pure-coring spoon, but an aluminum measuring spoon will do a good job of lifting the gritty core and seed.

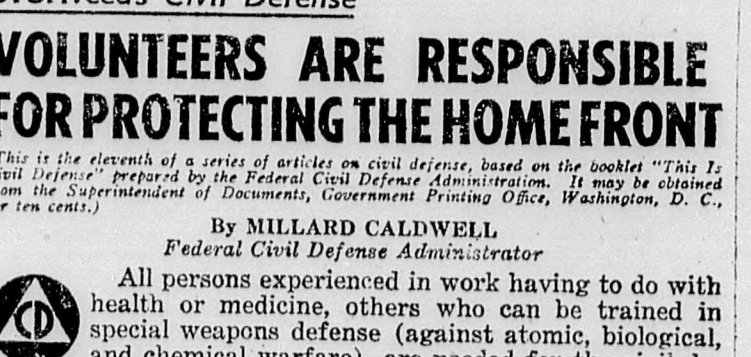

(AP Photo) Use a knife to cut out the "seeds" that run from stem to core. But don't start cutting until the pears have been carefully washed and drained, and everything else needed is ready. The cores should come out before the pears are canned.

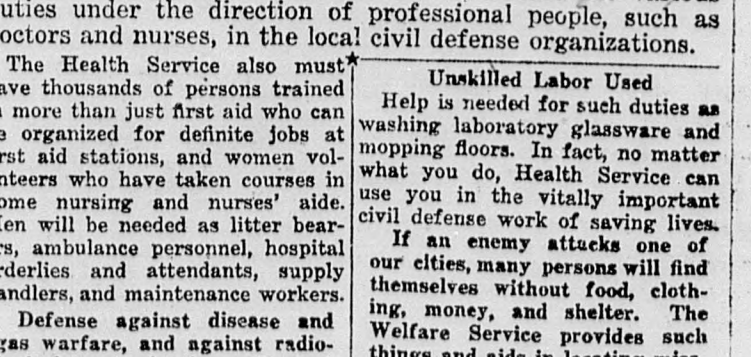

(AP Photo) Cut each pear in half and finish it up before cutting another pear. If you prepare fruit in water, use salt water (2 tablespoons salt to 1 gallon water) until there is enough to fill 3 or 4 jars. Then take pears out of the salt water, rinse and drop into boiling hot syrup (1 cup sugar to 2 or 3 cups water). Cook until pears are boiling hot throughout. This takes 5 or 10 minutes.

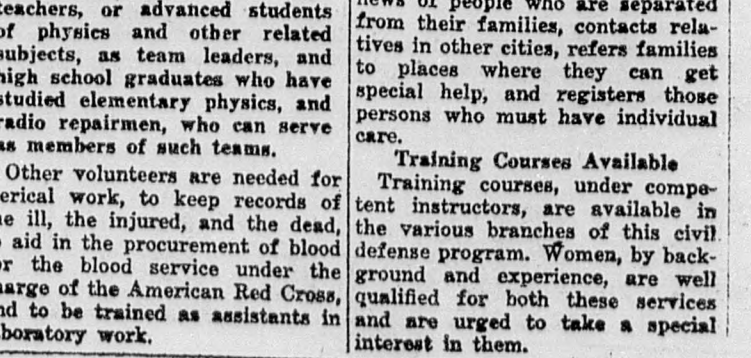

(AP Photo) Put hot pears into hot Ball Mason jars and cover with boiling syrup in which they were heated. Run knife between fruit and jar to remove air bubbles. Add more syrup if needed to cover. Process pints and quarts 25 minutes in a boiling water bath canner; it takes a little longer at high altitudes. Seal jars between tops, home-canned pears can and should be of a quality that wins prizes and prizes.

U.S. Needs Civil Defense

VOLUNTEERS ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR PROTECTING THE HOME FRONT
(This is the seventh of a series of articles on civil defense, based on the booklet "This Is My Country," prepared by the Federal Civil Defense Administration. It may be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C.)

By WILLARD CALDWELL
Federal Civil Defense Administrator

All persons experienced in work having to do with health or medicine, others who can be trained in special weapons defense (against atomic, biological, and chemical warfare), are needed for the civil defense Health Service. Their big job will be to care for the injured, and protect the health of a city after an attack. In addition, many more volunteers will be needed for various duties under the direction of professional people, such as doctors and nurses, in the local civil defense organizations.

The Health Service also must have thousands of persons trained in more than just first aid who can be organized for definite jobs at first aid stations, and women volunteers who have taken courses in home nursing and nurses' aide. Men will be needed as litter bearers, ambulance personnel, hospital orderlies and attendants, supply handlers, and maintenance workers.

Defense against disease and war, and against radiological contamination will need extra food inspectors, and sanitation workers. Radiological monitoring teams will need teachers, or advanced students of physics and other related subjects, as team leaders, and high school graduates who have studied elementary physics, and radio repairmen, who can serve as members of such teams.

Other volunteers are needed for clerical work, to keep records of the ill, the injured, and the dead, to aid in the procurement of blood for the blood service under the charge of the American Red Cross, and to be trained as assistants in laboratory work.

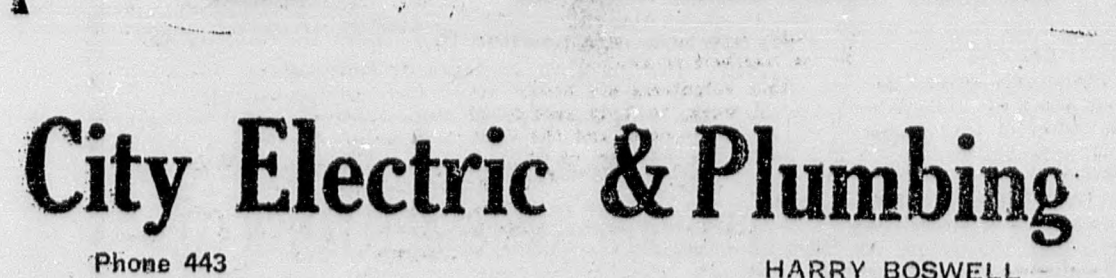

Training Courses Available
Training courses, under competent instructors, are available in the various branches of this civil defense program. Women, by background and experience, are well qualified for both these services and are urged to take a special interest in them.

PURINA PULLET RACE
A race is underway at Morrow City. It was announced this week by Luke Lubert, Morrow, manager.

The "race" as Jake Lubert explains, will actually be a feeding demonstration using laying hens and all flocks in this community are invited to take part. Each of the pullets has been given a number for identification and the first pullet to lay an egg will win the "race."

During the race, the flocks will be given the opportunity to judge the pullets and from that indicate which pullet will be the first to produce an egg.
